Dear Sir:

We plan to announce a limited edition sculpture by Mr. Ed Rohn, of Abraham Lincoln, this winter.

It will be an issue of 500, with an issue price of $100.00.
This work of art will be in a bisque porcelain, and is hand crafted and decorated in the United States.

This piece can be an ideal employee or corporate gift, or can be used as an award.

I have enclosed a brochure and picture for your review.

Please feel free to call if this item is of interest to you.

Sincerely yours,
Rohn Sculptured Porcelain

Mr. Robert E. Rayunas

Enc.

The artist has the tremendous gift of reaching out and touching the souls of those who appreciate beauty. He can capture a moment in time in the pose of his subjects. A Gypsy's laugh. The perceptive eyes of a Sheriff. The natural beauty of an Indian Maiden. The whimsy of a frog.

Edward J. Rohn is that artist. His media is porcelain. Each of his creations begins with a sculpture in clay. A lifetime of study guides sensitive hands. A piece of clay is deftly transformed into a smile, a bit of lace, or the wings of a butterfly.

When satisfied with the result of his original model, Mr. Rohn carries out the intricate steps for reproduction in high-fired porcelain, the most sophisticated of all ceramics. Failures run high, but when it is done – the porcelain sculpture is ready for individual finishing touches that make each piece truly unique. As an American sculptor, Mr. Rohn is well known by collectors around the world for his special skill in capturing the essence of a subject's personality. His interpretation of Harry S. Truman is displayed in the Truman Library. The exceptionally thin wings of "Butterflies" are on display in the Illinois State Museum.

A picture gives us a thousand thoughts—a sculpture a thousand pictures. The following is a sampling of his current collection.
